Product Description

3003 3004 3005 3105 Aluminium Disc Circle Polished Mirror H18 H22 For Electrical

Aluminum discs or circles in various sizes and thicknesses are commonly used to manufacture products, as well as more creative uses. Products manufactured with aluminum circles include capacitors, medical tubes and kitchen wear, as well as beverage cans. The circles are often drawn with presses into various sizes. Aluminum is more machinable than some of the other metals due to the fact it chips easily and can be relatively easy to shape. "Chipping easily" means the material is more "free machining", and implies the cutting tool spends more time and effort cutting the work-piece, instead of chips it has just created.
